

Friends,

Making it harder to vote. Denying health care to the poor. Slashing education by a billion dollars. That's how they do it in Texas... and, now, Pennsylvania.

Tom Corbett's far-right agenda follows the Rick Perry playbook. Maybe that's why he recently suggested that Pennsylvania should compete with Texas.

Corbett may think everything's bigger in Texas, and he's right: they have more uninsured and underfunded schools than any other state. That's the record Corbett wants us to compete with?

There's one big difference between Perry and Corbett: Perry has served three terms. With your support, we can stop Corbett at one.

We're one day away from a critical fundraising deadline. We need your help before midnight tomorrow.

Click here to donate \$5 to our effort to defeat Tom Corbett.

The Philadelphia Daily News dubbed Tom Corbett the "Rick Perry of Pennsylvania." And that's how he's governed: importing a Texas-style Voter ID law and cutting education and health care.

Next year, we'll have a chance to reverse our 2010 "oops" and send Corbett home.

The deadline is tomorrow. Give now to defeat Corbett.

Click here to give \$5 to support our effort to defeat Tom Corbett.